

As issuers look for new ways to engage with customers in an increasingly competitive marketplace, they are turning to loyalty and reward programs to help to differentiate their business. A well thought-through loyalty and reward program is a powerful tool for not only delivering value to customers but allowing issuers to distinguish themselves from others in the marketplace, attracting and retaining customers and ultimately leading to sustained customer engagement, and grow revenue.

TranzAxis Loyalty is a customisable solution for the implementation and management of diverse and innovative loyalty and rewards programs that not only attract and retain customers but grow bottom-line revenue.

The solution enables the integration of loyalty functionality to credit, debit and other commercial products. The customisability of the solution allows issuers to design an unlimited number of loyalty programs and create different rules for bonus calculation, redemption, and bonus expiration. For example, issuers are able to set limits for bonus accrual during specific time period – per day, month or promotional period.

Various bonus 'currencies' are available (points, miles, etc.) and the ability to transfer and convert of these currencies between loyalty programs is fully supported – for example, from points to cash, etc. The currencies can be calculated in both online mode (per transaction) or offline mode (for transaction or event-based bonuses, for example birthday bonuses or 'refer-a-friend' campaigns).

TranzAxis Loyalty provides all the tools required for quick customer enrolment, bonus point calculation and redemption, and integration with third party systems. Comprehensive reporting and analytical tools are also provided.
